BIG THINGS HAVE SMALL BEGINNINGS

In 2013 a couple of young guys scraped together enough money to buy the equipment to custom bend sheet metal the same day they needed it. Everything has changed, except the “custom metal,” and the “same day” part. Seattle Metals is now a fledgling company with a tight-knit team pursuing growth to the bottom line by “loving thy neighbor.” This means we serve the customer with an unparalleled fast lead time at a reasonable price; help colleagues in their personal development; serve our preferred vendors as partners accomplishing a similar purpose – fabricating something of value to the building community.
